Text

As soon as lightning strikes twice in the same place (God only know that) at some time (date), either Cassandra (probably) or Wankerbelle (I hope) will get the predicted ending. Scholarly folk: clue then in and, in this context, the context of the former is important, because the context is actually where reality started getting taken out of context, which is reality—precisely as nature intended it. Make a copy quick: Western Civilization is going down as I, personally, as God has made abundantly clear through his one and only non-profit prophet (I did not ask for this job) as one sober person in this joint will not at least OFFER to buy me a beer, for fear of passing off the big money which exists only because you believe in money, but you do not believe in love. Or free beer. No joke. Seriously
